STATE OFFICIAL TO INVESTIGATE

Will Confer with College Authorities and Local Board of Health Regarding Scarlet Fever Matter. Strict Measures.

In a telephone conversation with The Times this morning Dr. Royer, chief medical inspector of the State Department of Health, stated that he would send to Gettysburg this afternoon Dr. Hull, his associate, to make an investigation here regarding the scarlet fever situation at the college.

The action is precipitated by the leaving of thirty one students for their homes when the cases were first discovered Wednesday night. With the approval of the State Health Board Dr. Henry Stewart on Friday afternoon served this letter on the local college authorities.

November 19, 1915.
The President,
Pennsylvania College,
Gettysburg, Pa.

Sir:—
I am directed by the Commissioner of Health to advise you that he considers the responsibility of keeping the students in Gettysburg rests with your institution, and that if any further leaving, without the knowledge and permission of the Board of Health occurs, the entire institution will be placed under quarantine, enforced by the State Constabulary.

Very respectfully,
Henry Stewart,
Secretary.

The original order was posted on the college bulletin board and fifteen minutes later was missing. Copies were placed in each of the dormitories and they remained posted for no longer time. The students besieged Dr. Stewart's office Friday night to get permission to leave, saying that it was not because of a threatened quarantine they desired to go but for other purposes. He refused all requests.

Dr. Royer stated to The Times this morning that the Health Department did not wish to work any hardship on the local institution or the students and the visit of the associate medical inspector is due in part to the request received at the Department from Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, to know whether or not the Gettysburg foot ball team would be allowed to go to that place for the game on Thanksgiving Day. The official coming here is to confer with the college authorities and the local Health Board regarding conditions. Dr. Royer further stated that he could give no definite date for the lifting of the present order regarding leaving the school but intimated that it would be from one to two weeks from the first discovery of the disease, that being the period of incubation. Most of the boys, if about to develop the fever, would show symptoms in a week's time he thought, and this possibly means that the school may get its Thanksgiving Day recess after all and the boys be allowed to go home for it.

Regarding the ones who have already gone to their homes, Dr. Royer stated to The Times that the health boards in their home towns had been notified to confine them to their own premises for a period of ten days. "It is about what boys deserve who will run away and play the coward," Dr. Royer observed.

At ten o'clock every morning the students at college are compelled to register and any who are missing are at once reported to Dr. Stewart.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ORCHARDISTS

Experienced Men will Address Adams County Fruit Growers on Subjects of Vital Interest to their Business.

Adams County's fruit growers will have the privilege of hearing a number of experts at the sessions of their annual convention which will be held in Fruit Growers' Hall, Bendersville, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, December 15, 16, and 17. Although the complete program is not yet announced some of the speakers have been listed and their subjects selected.

L. J. Morell, of Kinderhook, New York, president of the New York Fruit Growers Association, will be present and will discuss with the local orchardists the New York apple grading and package law and the manner in which it is working out. The original law in that state was not regarded as a success but it has since been modified and is now regarded as satisfactory.

At the last session of the Pennsylvania State Legislature a bill modeled after the original New York law was presented but defeated on account of the experience with it in the Empire State. It is probable that the next session of the legislature of this State will see a law presented similar to the amended New York law and for that reason the Adams County growers are much interested.

Prof. Hodgkiss, of the Geneva, New York, experiment station will appear before the convention to discuss the "Aphis and Red Bug" which are blighted by local growers with having thrown out as much fruit during the past year as any other pest.

From the National Bureau of Plant Industry there will be sent an expert who will discuss with the Adams County orchardists the Fire Blight, Collar Blight, Frog Eye Fungus, and Sooty Fungus, all of which are especially interesting topics here because of the growers' experience with them and the damage done to their fruit. Several other speakers will also be secured, and the full and detailed program will be announced within a short time.

As in other years the evening programs are designed to provide entertainment and instruction. On Wednesday evening, December 15, the attraction will be the Swanee River Quartet; on Thursday evening Dr. W. T. F. Culp in his famous lecture on "Uncrowned Kings"; and on Friday evening the Dietrichs, magicians and novelty entertainers of Chautauqua fame.

All in all, the prospects for the meeting are unusually good and the large membership of this progressive association is looking forward to a profitable and enjoyable week.

SOCIAL

Church Organization Entertains its Members and Friends.

St. James Christian Endeavor Society held their anniversary social Friday evening at the church. The entertainment part of the evening included several selections by the Seminary quartet, a violin solo by Ernest Baker, readings by Miss Elsie Gerlach and Paul Livingstone, and games in which all took part. Refreshments were served and the usual enjoyable time was spent.

TEACHERS' MEETING

Will Follow Institute with their Own Local Session.

The teachers of Tyrone township will hold an educational meeting, Friday evening, November 26, at Five Points. The topics for discussion are, "Industry in the Schoolroom," D. A. Peters; "Opportunities of the Teacher," David Nicoll; "Physical Culture," Miss Violet Meals.

MORE PLANS FOR LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Elect Officers for the Coming Year and Decide to Go Ahead with Ideas now so well under way. Great Progress Lately.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Lincoln Highway Association was held at the offices of the National Headquarters and important plans for the future development of the great national thoroughfare were formulated.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Henry B. Joy, president of the Packard Motor Car Company, president; Carl G. Fisher, president of the Prest-O-Lite Company, vice president; Roy D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, vice president; Emory W. Clark, treasurer, and Austin F. Bennett, secretary.

Of highest interest among the plans for the coming year will be the building of as large a number as possible of seedling miles along the route. These seedling miles, built according to specifications prescribed by the Lincoln Highway Association as a standard, and with cement donated by the Association for their construction, are in high favor with every part of the route that has them. Petitions for additional cement for such construction have come to the Association from counties now possessing these seedling miles, but it has been found necessary to limit the donation to each to 3,000 barrels of cement, enough to build one mile, since the best results in furthering the complete building of the Highway can be obtained by placing these donations in as many localities as possible where they will stand as an example for further building.

Five seedling miles have now been completed in Indiana, Illinois, and Nebraska, and the plans embrace the building of many more where the need of hard surfaced construction is most apparent.

The directors also indorsed the proposition of building a memorial section in honor of the late secretary of the Association, A. R. Pardington, at some point between Salt Lake City and Reno, Nevada. Funds will be gathered for this purpose and a fitting tribute erected to the man whose industry and zeal did so much to forward the Lincoln Highway cause.

The coming year will see renewed activities in every endeavor to procure the advancement and development of the Lincoln Highway.

EXTRA PRECAUTIONS

School Board will Take no Chances with Scarlet Fever.

The town school board Friday evening issued a request that parents keep from school on Monday any children who show signs of sickness and that they do not allow them to attend until recovery is complete. This is taken as a precautionary measure against the spread of any contagious disease of which any of the children may have the incipient stages.

DOUBLE KILLING

Youthful Hunter Kills Sleeping Foxes and then Claims Bounty Money.

While hunting in the mountains Thursday, Amos Kump, 16 year old son of Charles Kump, near Orrtanna, came upon two gray foxes, sleeping close together on a rock and the boy had no difficulty killing both with one shot. He came in to Gettysburg Friday to claim the bounty money.

FOR WAR PLANT IN NEARBY TOWN

Three Million Dollar Factory for Making Munitions is Proposed for Martinsburg. Quietly Looking over the Situation.

Three representatives of a big eastern rifle manufacturing company, whose name they refused to divulge, are in Martinsburg for the purpose of negotiating for the purchase of buildings and building sites in and adjacent to the town with the declared intention of establishing a big branch of the firearms plant there.

The representatives of the eastern company stated that the concern they are acting for had been awarded the contract to furnish certain parts for 3,000,000 rifles for the French government, and that the inadequacy of the company's present facilities made it necessary to establish more factories.

A secret investigation of probable sites resulted in the selection of Martinsburg, where there are several large buildings which could easily be converted into factories of this kind. It is stated that negotiations have progressed to that point where a definite announcement may be made by the representatives of the rifle company in a few days.

One small plant manufacturing one of the ingredients of a high explosive is already in operation in Martinsburg, but the work is being conducted with so much secrecy and the plant is so closely guarded by armed men that little is known of its work. It is said that this plant extracts certain elements from limestone and shale, which it ships secretly to a large eastern company to be used in making explosives for the Allies.

EXERCISES AT MONUMENT

Anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech is Observed.

The Monocisee Camp Fire enjoyed a rare treat and lesson in patriotism, Friday afternoon, Dr. O. T. Corson, of Columbus, Ohio, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, is a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln, and has one of the most complete private collections of Lincoln pictures in the country. He has been at Gettysburg several times on the nineteenth of November, and always, when here on that date, makes a pilgrimage to the spot in the Cemetery made sacred by the great Emancipator when he delivered his immortal dedicatory address. This year Dr. and Mrs. Corson invited the Monocisee Camp Fire to accompany them. After wandering among the graves a short time the group formed by the National Monument and Dr. Corson read an interesting account of the exercises on that spot fifty two years ago as witnessed and described by the late Professor Morrow, of Allegheny County, a close friend of Dr. Corson's. All repeated Lincoln's famous address and after singing "America" the Camp Fire members withdrew, with the salute of their organization while they sang "Wohelo."

TIMES PLAN IS NOT A CONTEST

Majority of Schools in County will have Pupils Working Monday. Pupils and Patrons are Enthusiastic. All Can Earn Something.

Interest in The Times' offer is so general and inquiry concerning the teachers entering into the plan have been so numerous that it was necessary to-day to send receipt blanks and envelopes to a number of the teachers who neglected to come to the office for them before leaving Gettysburg.

Most of these teachers were highly in favor of the idea themselves but feared they could do little in their districts for one reason or another. Under the circumstances by far the great majority of them have decided to give the proposition to the pupils on Monday morning and as a result the workers will practically cover the county.

In this connection it is well to say that The Times' plan is in no sense a contest. The usual newspaper contest makes the prizes about the only desirable things to work for and those who do not win prizes are left with little for their labor. In this case, the prizes are submerged by the large commission that the schools will have. Of course the ones who win prizes will have a very nice addition to their other earnings but the commissions earned will be the things that count.

Several people who just recently added their names to the list of entrants were not entirely familiar with all the features of the plan so we are again presenting the substance of it.

Subscriptions may be taken for either the Daily or the Weekly paper. All subscriptions must be new ones and must be paid cash. No commission is allowed on renewals. The exceptionally high rate of commissions allowed would make this a ruinous proceeding for the paper. The price of a year's subscription in advance for the daily anywhere in the county except Gettysburg is $2.50 (outside of the county or in Gettysburg the price is $3.00 per year) and the commission on this is $1.00. The price for a six months' subscription is $1.50; your commission on this, 50 cents. The price for three months is 75 cents and the school's commission in this case is 25 cents.

The Adams County News sells for $1.00 per year to any address. The school will be allowed 50 cents on each new yearly subscription. For a six months' subscription to the News the school will receive 25 cents.

In other words the commission on the weekly is exactly one half the amount the subscriber pays. In sending the subscriptions to The Times office the teacher must give the subscriber's name and post office address, including his rural route number if he lives on a rural route, and send the money he has paid less the school's commission. Do not send your commission. Retain it for each payment you make.

Schools will be able to sell the weekly paper in instances where they cannot secure subscriptions for the daily, principally near the boundary line of the county. Post office facilities do not permit delivery the same day to all sections of the county for the daily paper and these people may prefer a daily from another county but they want some paper from their county seat and the weekly fills the demand admirably in these cases.

If the plan we have suggested from the start is followed, there will be little difficulty for any school in the county to earn a tidy sum. The idea is this: Have the pupils secure the names of residents near their homes who do not get The Times or the News and make a list of these names. Then assign a certain number to be interviewed by each pupil. In this way the people will not be annoyed by having several different pupils after them, and on the other hand no one in your section will be missed. But first, fix upon the article you want to buy so your children can tell the subscriber just where his money is going.

Do not be afraid to set this ambition high enough. You can get it, if you work and the people will help if it is properly presented to them. Let every one get into the plan promptly on Monday with spirit back of it. It will all be over in two short weeks and there is no time to lose.

ALLIES TO SETTLE BALKAN POLICY

Final Decision on Greece and Dardanelles Near.

ULTIMATUM FOR ATHENS

Berlin Says All Old Serbia is Won and 5000 More Prisoners Captured. Serb Army in Desperate Position.

London, Nov. 20.—The attitude of the entente allies toward Greece, from which country they are endeavoring to get a definite guarantee for the safety of the French, British and Serbian troops, and the whole military policy in the near east, including the Dardanelles, will, it is expected, be made clear before the end of the present week.

The council at Paris, in which British and French cabinet ministers took part, came to important decisions, and Earl Kitchener, looking over the ground both in Gallipoli and the Balkans, is to report on the best means of dealing with the situation arising out of the Austro-German and Bulgarian successes in Serbia and Greece's leanings toward the central powers.

Lord Kitchener, who was reported earlier in the week as having gone from the island of Lemnos to the Gallipoli peninsula, made a flying visit to Salonika, according to a despatch to Paris. He conferred on shipboard with General Sarrail, commander in chief of the French army of the Orient, and left immediately without debarking.

Copenhagen advices report that German papers declare the allies have already sent an ultimatum to Greece. A Rome despatch says:

"Information has been received to the effect that the allies have demanded that Greece demobilize. Permission to divulge the coercive measures to be adopted in case Greece refuses to comply are withheld, but it is known that one of the steps that will be taken will be Italian occupation of the most important of the Hellenic islands. It is said that all the demands now made upon Greece are signed by representatives of England, France, Russia and Italy."

All Old Serbia Won, Says Berlin.
Berlin, Nov. 20.—Conquest of old Serbia by the Austro-German and Bulgarian troops is complete, it was announced here.

The Serb government is said to have fled to Przrend, near the Albanian border.

The war office announces the capture of 5000 more prisoners.

Fear for Serb Army
London, Nov. 20.—Great anxiety is felt regarding the safety of the Serbian armies, now engaged in a difficult retreat.

The Austro-German advance from the northwest approaches the Sanjak of Novi Pazar, having reached to the north of Raska. Thence it passes through Kursunlu and Tadan, ending at a point between Leskovatz and Vranja. The occupation of Kursunlu brings the invaders close to Mitrovica and gives them the key to one of the few great crossroads cutting Serbia from west to east.

The Serbian army is being forced between the limits of two narrow fronts, Mitrovica and Pristina, in the center, and Philip and Monastir on the south. The Serbians have the alternative of giving battle where they stand or retreating in the center through Przrend into Albania, and in the south, if the road into Aigania is barred.

The fate of Monastir is not yet known definitely, but there is little hope that it will escape the Bulgarians. There is a possibility, however, that the invaders will not dare to make such an extension of their line, with the French apparently established solidly on their flank.

GERMANS PREPARING NEW WESTERN RUSH

Are Concentrating Men on Flanders Front.

London, Nov. 20.—A despatch from Rotterdam to the Daily News says: "From several sources news reaches here that a period of particular activity on both sides is suddenly developing on the western front."

Certain evidence of liveliness on the part of the Germans in the sector of Arras-Argentan has for a week past suggested they were preparing for an attempt at a local advance. These preparations would explain the heavy artillery duel, the sound of which has been distinctly heard, even as far east as Antwerp.

All along the sector the Germans seem to have been collecting men and munitions, and the allies' artillery have been as busily engaged, hampering their movements.

From a late message, it would seem that while the Germans were preparing their coup at one spot, the British, adopting working tactics, suddenly descended upon them at another, and very heavy losses have been inflicted upon the Germans. This fighting is said to have occurred just south of Ypres. The exact results so far are not known.

There has been spirited artillery fighting in Abbeville, accompanied by the throwing of hand grenades, according to the announcement given out by the French war office.

Eight German aviators flying over Lunelville were pursued by French aeroplanes. Five of them were driven away, but the others succeeded in throwing down several bombs. Three persons were wounded. The property damage is reported as unimportant.

500,000 TO STORM GORZ

Italians Preparing to Launch Huge Force at Austrian Stronghold.

Rome, Nov. 20.—The importance of the successful Italian operations northwest of Gorz is emphasized in late official despatches.

The great battle at Gorz, where the Italians are trying to capture the city and break the Austrian front on the Isone river, continues with unabated energy.

It is reported unofficially that the Italians are to employ 500,000 men in the new effort to smash the Austrian line, and relieve the pressure in Serbia. It is believed that if the Italians are successful, the Austrians will have to withdraw heavy forces from Serbia and Germany will have to take troops from either the eastern or western front, to fill up the gaps.

HILLSTROM SHOT IN UTAH PRISON

Slayer Is Put to Death by Firing Squad.

HE GAVE ORDER TO SHOOT

The Man President Wilson Twice Appealed for Pays Penalty for Murder.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 20.—Joseph Hillstrom, condemned murderer, whose case attracted attention throughout the country and prompted the intervention of President Wilson, the minister to the United States from Sweden and the American Federation of Labor, was put to death by a firing squad in the state prison.

Hillstrom was convicted of the murder of John G. Morrison, a grocer, and his son, Arline, January 19, 1914. Under the law, he was allowed to choose between shooting and hanging. He was the nineteenth person to pay the death penalty in Utah and the fifteenth to choose shooting instead of hanging.

President Wilson twice appealed for further respite for Hillstrom. The president's second request, made Thursday, was denied by Governor Spry as not based on any new facts.

Although self-poisoned, when he faced his executioners, Hillstrom had a sensational nervous collapse just previously. He fled the door of his cell with strips torn from his blankets and fought the guards fiercely with the handle of a broom he had snatched from an attendant in the corridor. The outbreak was unexpected.

He arose and began to shake the cell door, shrieking as if in a nightmare. The force reached the outside guards who turned in a general alarm. The prison physician tried with slight success to quiet the man. It was decided not to interfere with him until necessary and he was not disturbed until the time to take him to the scene of execution.

When the guards arrived for this purpose Hillstrom attacked them savagely with the broomhandle, which he had broken in two, leaving a sharp point on one piece.

The deputy warden, A. C. Ure, received a slight wound in the arm from Hillstrom's weapon. Hillstrom fought fiercely until Sheriff Carles arrived and appealed to him.

"Joe, this is all nonsense," said Carles. "What do you mean? You promised to die like a man." Hillstrom hesitated a moment and then yielded. "Well, I'm through," he said. "That you can't blame a man for fighting for his life."

The blanket strips he had tied to the door were then cut, he was blindfolded and led to the place of execution, supported by two guards. He talked incessantly in the few moments that elapsed between the time of his arrival and the firing of the death volley. He asked whether any friends were in the firing squad and kept saying he was innocent and would die like a man. His voice was clear, but low. He was quickly adjusted to the death chair and the attendants drew aside.

The firing squad consisted of five men, who were paid $40 each for the work. They selected their rifles by lot, one of the weapons containing a blank cartridge.

The chair for Hillstrom was placed against the inner wall of the prison facing a barricade to conceal the firing squad from the condemned man and the spectators. After he was seated attendants asked if he had anything to say. He said:

"Gentlemen, I die with a clear conscience. I never did anything wrong in my life. I die fighting, not like a coward. Well, I'm going, good-bye."

Hillstrom staggered to the chair and his head dropped as he was strapped in. Hillstrom's collapse was attributed to an opiate administered after he had offered resistance in his cell. The prison physician placed a paper target directly over Hillstrom's heart to guide the members of the firing squad.

When the officer started to give the command to fire Hillstrom yelled: "Let her go!" The squad fired, and four bullets pierced his heart.

Ed. Rowan, secretary of the local Industrial Workers of the World organization, claimed Hillstrom's body. He intimated it would be sent to Wyoming for burial, as requested by Hillstrom in a telegram to W. D. Haywood.

Great Britain has forbidden Greek vessels to leave her ports and a decree has empowered the Italian government to take similar action.

Perkins Sticks to Ship

Chicago, Nov. 20.—George W. Perkins, conferring with local leaders of the Progressive party, said: "The Progressive party must have, and will have, a national ticket in the field in 1916." Mr. Perkins, who is national chairman of the party, will make an address at Kansas City.

SENDS CAME TO WILSON

Democrat Tells President to Use it to "Straighten Out Boys."

Bloomington, Pa., Nov. 20.—If the "boys" in the cabinet and among the diplomatic corps do not have themselves during these tumultuous times, President Wilson has specific instructions from a lifelong Columbia county Democrat to use on them the hickory.

Abram Kline is the proud possessor of a letter which he received in reply from the president's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, but whether the cane would be used "in straightening out the boys," Mr. Tumulty did not state.

Kline came to town, came in hand, suggestive of Jacksonian Democracy. He hunted up John Watson and had Watson write the letter, which Kline signed, to the effect that he was sending the president by insured parcel post a hickory cane he could use on the boys if they didn't behave. He didn't know exactly how tall the president was, so he was given the liberty of cutting a piece off if too long. The letter also contained the information that the writer "was born a Democrat, always had voted the Democratic ticket and hoped to die a Democrat."

MEDICAL JURY MAY EXONERATE DOCTOR

More Serious Defects Found in Bollinger Baby.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Although the six well-known surgeons impaneled as a coroner's jury to inquire into the death of the Bollinger baby, the defective permitted to die by Dr. Harry J. Halseiden, of the German-American hospital staff, agreed not to discuss their findings until they are made public. It is reported their verdict will vindicate Halseiden.

Coroner Peter M. Hoffman admitted as much after the second post-mortem was performed on the infant. "Dr. Reinhardt went further in this autopsy," Coroner Hoffman said, "and we found the child was even more defective than was indicated—far more defective than Dr. Halseiden said."

Dr. Halseiden, whose refusal to perform a life-saving operation on the child aroused a storm of comment, pro and con, testified at the inquest he had consulted fifteen physicians before deciding to let the little one perish. He said all except one of these other doctors agreed with him the case was hopeless.

Replying to questions by the coroner, Dr. Halseiden said: "The father left the case in my hands entirely. After a conference I came to the conclusion it was best not to operate. It would require a delicate operation to prolong the child's life and had it died under an operation I might have been accused of killing it. A dangerous surgical operation would have gained nothing for the child. Without an operation there was no chance for it to live."

"MOVIE" IMITATION FATAL

Smalls Boy Shoots Himself Personating Film Character.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 20.—Anthony Adams, aged nine years, shot himself in the head at his home and died half an hour later.

He was imitating a character he had seen recently in a motion picture. The exhibition was for the benefit of his eleven-year-old brother, William, who hid in the same room after the tragedy. The body of the boy was found by the mother fifteen minutes after the shooting.

The child was shot in the back about a month ago, while he and his brother were "acting" in the yard in the rear of their home.

Villa Defeats Obregon

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 20.—General Obregon has been defeated by Villa in a fight near Cananea, Mex., according to a despatch received by Carlos Kandall, Villa governor of Sonora. The report said that 300 Carranzistas were killed in the battle.

Man, 25, Kills Self With Gun

Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 20.—Bending over a shotgun with the muzzle against his body, Oscar E. Bennett, twenty-five years old, sent the charge of shot into his heart. He was not missed until the body was found by men going to work. The position of the gun and the body told the story.

He will enter upon his new duties Monday.

As He Understood It.
A Bible teacher among the southern blacks, desirous of waking the dormant powers of a scholar, asked the question: "What are we taught by the historic incident of Jacob wrestling with the angel?" The cautious reply came: "Dunno 'actly, but I s'pose 'twas to tell us we mustn't 'rastle."

Brotherly Love.
Brotherly love is vital, not mechanical. How refreshing is the dew! It gives new life and verdure to all it touches. Brotherly love is independent of organizations, it is independent of all social mechanisms.—Doctor Thomas.

Different Times.
"The girls used to keep me waiting when I drove up in a buggy. I notice they never keep you waiting long when you drive up in a motor car?" "Why is that?" "The girls know how quickly a model gets out of date as well as we do."

BRITISH INDIAN RULE IN DANGER

Kaiser's Drive Toward Colonies Recalls Uprisings.

FOMENTING A REVOLUTION.

Present Viceroy Was Once Injured by a Bomb Thrown by Some One Who Did Not Like the English Methods of Government—Say Mohammedans Are in Favor of a Holy War.

The Austro-German drive toward Constantinople, which has as an ultimate objective the British colonies of Egypt and India, is now attracting much attention and recalls previous incidents in the history of these countries where the English rule has been threatened. Most momentous of these have been the various uprisings and revolutions.

Lord Curzon, leaving England in 1891 to take up his duties as governor general of India, said at the farewell banquet, "I cannot forget that in the sky of India, serene as it is, a small cloud may arise no larger than a man's hand, but which, growing larger and larger, may at last threaten to burst and overwhelm us with ruin."

In the following year the Sepoy rebellion broke. It was quelled, and after two and a half centuries the East India company surrendered its administration to the British crown. In recent years British statesmen have professed growing belief that the stability of their Indian empire was permanently established, but since the present war began they have been anxiously scanning the heavens to make sure that Lord Curzon's "cloud no larger than a man's hand" was not re-appearing. The aspect of the sky above Hindustan is at least suspicious.

Bomb Thrown at Viceroy.

Administration in England is entrusted to a secretary of state for India, assisted by a council of from ten to fourteen members. In India the governor general, or viceroy, appointed by the crown, has supreme executive authority. The present governor general is Baron Hardinge of Penshurst. On Dec. 23, 1912, he was wounded by the explosion of a bomb thrown at him during the celebration of the transfer of the capital from Calcutta to Delhi. Delhi is a Mohammedan city, and the Bengalis resented the moving of the government.

So restless were the Mohammedans for many years that special provision for their representation in the governor-general's council was made. This council, subject to certain restrictions, makes the law for all persons in British India, all British subjects within the native states and all native Indian subjects of the king in all parts of the world.

In the large part of India directly governed by the British are fifteen provinces, the largest of which is Madras. Their governors are usually sent from England. There are also several scores of native states, called independent, but all more or less under the control of the British government of India. The most populous of these is Hyderabad, whose people number nearly 14,000,000 and are increasing by about 2,000,000 in every decade. It was estimated two years ago that fewer than 6,500 Englishmen were employed to rule over the 300,000,000 of India.

The Sepoy mutiny of 1857 had various causes arising from England's effort to graft its civilization on India and from the natives' fear of annexation. The immediate cause was the great disproportion between the numbers of British and native troops.

Heard of Outbreaks Long Ago.

England heard of serious seditious outbreaks, caused or urged by Germans, as long ago as last March. In Delhi on March 19 Sir Reginald Henry Cradock, a member of the viceroy's council, said it had been necessary to arm the military authorities with special emergency powers. He spoke of "the campaign engineered on the Pacific coast of America, whence some deluded men had returned during the last few months with their minds poisoned and had committed acts of violence in Bengal." There was much looting in western Punjab, but Sir Reginald ascribed it to economic causes and racial conflicts between Mohammedans and Hindus.

From four districts on the north-western frontier news of trouble got past the censors in April. It was said in dispatches that German agents were deliberately fomenting trouble and that the appearance of the Sultan of Turkey as an ally of the Kaiser had excited millions of Mohammedans. A regiment of Mohammedan Pathans at Rampur, capital of Burma, attempted to revolt, and nine ringleaders were shot. Three regiments sent from England for what they thought was merely garrison duty were sent up to the north-western border to face conditions which veteran Anglo-Indian fighters described as alarming. There were also riots in central India, and martial law was proclaimed.

Post-Prandial Oratory Kills.

A Long Island man laughed himself to death the other day at the witty speeches at a political dinner, but this is one argument that will never become epidemic.—Boston Transcript.

My Old Love

Oh, no, no! It cannot be! Not that! That little stout figure so gray is the Nannie I once used to know. So brilliant and charming and gay, so full of wit and fancy and whim. So careless, so fair and so young, with a figure so slight and so slim And a just evergreen on her tongue?

And yet, now I look on her face, There is something I see in it still Of the beauty she had and the grace. And the loveliness, too, if you will. There is still the sweet charm that entranced. And the same pleasant smile and sweet tone.

That she had when we flirted and danced In the jolly young days that are gone.

The years, such long years, since we met, And I've changed so! Perhaps she will say, "Who is this old fellow?" And yet, Though I am older than she and more gray, Perhaps she'll remember me still And the days of our twenties. By Jove! I will try to find, though if you will, But she won't, I hope—in old love. —W. W. Stone in New York Mail.

U. S. MOTOR CORPS CARRIED 6,000 IN CHAMPAGNE FIGHT.

Heroes Work of American Ambulance Workers Told in Letter From Front.

Richard Norton, organizer and commander of the American volunteer motor ambulance corps with the allied armies in France, after taking his corps through the great battle in Champagne in September and October, has written to his brother, Eliot Norton of New York, an account of the experiences of himself and his men.

The American motor ambulance corps now has entire charge of the ambulance service of the French Eleventh army corps. Mr. Norton has sixty odd cars under his command, and between Sept. 25, the day the great battle began, and Oct. 9 they carried over 6,000 wounded away from the firing line.

"For some weeks before the recent battle began," says Mr. Norton, "we knew that a big movement was on foot. The movements of troops by night and day, the great numbers of aeroplanes and captive balloons and general rumor all pointed to this. But it was not until we had been some three weeks stationed within a few miles of the line here that we had any inkling as to exactly when or at exactly what spot the blow would be delivered."

"The whole countryside had been most carefully prepared. Besides one main road from St. Jean to the villages of Hurlus and Mesnil, between the French batteries and the front trenches, narrow gauge railways had been laid to carry munitions and other supplies to the fighting line, and for miles the land was scored with deep dug trenches."

"The country was absolutely packed. I can scarcely find any word to suggest a picture of how packed it was with troops and munition trains. The batteries of every sized gun were innumerable."

MILLIONAIRE IS A PRIVATE.

John Wren Owns Race Courses, Newspapers and Other Enterprises.

Giving his name as John Wren, a man applied at Melbourne, Australia, for enlistment. He said his business was "racing."

"Are you the owner of the race courses?" asked the surprised recruiting officer.

"Yes," he replied.

He is perhaps the most widely known of Australia's millionaires. He owns several race courses, a newspaper or two and is interested in a great variety of industrial enterprises. He gave $2,500 as a prize to the first Australian to win the Victoria cross.

Wren passed all the tests and was promptly ticketed as a private in a newly formed regiment. He gave his age as forty-three.

ROOSTER LOSES; GIVES RANCH

Farmer Had Wagered His Fortune on Outcome in Cockpit.

As a result of a rooster fight, Gus Stephens, a retired farmer of Lyman, Neb., has deeded one of his ranches to Walter De Witt, clerk in a grocery store.

A fight was arranged, and a large crowd gathered under a big apple tree in the city park. The birds at first appeared to be evenly matched. After half an hour Stephens' rooster showed signs of exhaustion and not long afterward succumbed to defeat.

HOW WAR HAS AFFECTED THE AMERICAN FARMER.

- During the first year of the war—
- All crops increased 7 per cent over the year previous.
- Exports of agricultural products increased 32 per cent.
- Stimulus of increased exports resulted in a 3.4 per cent increase in acreage.
- Grain exports particularly high; cotton exports particularly low.
- Excess of the amount required at home America could spare for export—
- 375,000,000 bushels of wheat.
- 250,000,000 bushels of corn.
- 7,000,000 bales of cotton.
- 200,000,000 bushels of oats.
- $330,000,000 worth of meat and dairy products.

IS AMERICA'S DAY

When Prayers of Thanksgiving Arise From Hearts of Grateful Nation.

EMORY J. HAYNES.

DID you ever see the sun rise out of the ocean? For nearly four hours the dawn of Thanksgiving day has been telling its way westward across the sea before it breaks on America. Half a league onward the gray light creeps over the uninhabitable waste of waters. The new faint light cohorts of outlanders are scouting ahead of the monarch sun. They are seeking the coast of Maine, feeling for the Cape of Hatteras. For this is to be a great day in America.

If the sun were a god, marching over the Atlantic spaces, one would put the words in his mouth: "You ships on which I flash, I am not content with you alone, nor with you lighthouses, which I now touch with my spears of sunbeams. I seek a continent of grateful human dwelling, I gold church spires, burnish the white walls of great cities, gleam in farm house windows, the homes of men. It is not a day of toil but of thankful, joyous rest. I will march over the vast areas of mighty states, cross rivers and lakes, climb the Saharas and beyond, before I slip again into the Pacific ocean. For this is a day set apart to me. Men are waiting, out of harness, for the sunbeams. I acknowledge their tokens. I make the American flag beautiful everywhere in my blue sky, thousands of flags dipping to give thanks. I do hear the ringing of bells, the shouts of play, the laughter of kinsmen greeting kinsmen, and the voice of a nation's prayer."

But the sun is no god. A day is merely a stretch of hours. There is a Maker of the sun who trains it to be but the servant of his children. There is an All-Seeing Eye which views us at our grateful offices. Let us try to think of it that way. Then the day has a meaning.

Thinking of it all in that way, what a sublime day it is. A whole youthful nation with uplift hands and merry hearts. This nation has been, at times, in tears. Today it bursts into laughter and the sounds of thankfulness—the fragrance of a feast fills the air. It is a very festival of charity, when none is proud or selfish, when the poor are not forgotten.

Have you ever watched the clouds awaking by mists rising by the advancing sun? What a spectacle it would be, if, from a star, one could witness this uprising of sun-touched vapor from valley to plain across a continent. So does the nation's praise arise with incense of thanksgiving. Remember that, by this figure, we are seeking to make our answering adoration visible to our minds.

And there is no beauty in a sunset except if there be clouds to take on the gilding. So may the evening be of this glad day, for "The Lord God is our sun and shield." When the day is done may heaven's blessings, yet to be sent us, be more than the evening stars for multitude. Stars on stars, the light from many a star is so distant that it has never yet reached us. But it is on the way.

Things to Be Thankful For.

The sentiment of gratitude is one that there is small risk of finding too much in evidence. It is not possible to grow from childhood to manhood or womanhood without implicit dependence upon others, without incurring obligations and running deeply into debt—first of all to the God who made us, then to our parents who safeguarded our helpless infancy, then to the friends who assisted us on our way. It is impossible for us to make adequate repayment or return for all these benefits. What has been done for us in our creation and our sustenance, in all the generous provision of love and of sympathy that surrounds us, is beyond reckoning or valuation—it is without money and without price. But we may at least from time to time express our gratitude to the Giver of all good gifts. We may occasionally voice our thankfulness that we are alive and that our plain duty lies before us, and that there is useful work to occupy our hearts and souls and senses. Above all, there is the great gift of love—the love that transfigures life and makes it worth while to keep on trying to puzzle out the riddle of existence—the love that fills the universe and, according to Dante, "moves the sun and the other stars."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Golden Corn.

Heap high the farmer's wintry hoard! Heap high the golden corn! No richer gift has autumn poured From out her lavish horn!

Let other lands, exulting, glean The apple from the pine, The orange from the glossy green, The cluster from the vine;

But let the good old corn adorn The hills our fathers trod! Still let us for his golden corn Send up our thanks to God.

—Whittier.

King of All Turkeys.

The Thanksgiving turkey is turkey with cranberry sauce and mince or pumpkin pie. He is allied with crisp celery, and is redolent of Araby by reason of the spices in his stuffing. He is the king of all turkeys, all turkeys in one, the hope of ardent youth and the prop of declining age, the fuscious burden of the groaning board, the bird of that paradise for which all good livers long.

Sign Scared Him.

"I thought you told me you were going around to that china decorator's to look for a job," he did. But there was a sign outside—Firing Daily."—Judge.

Everyday Uses of the "Wear-Ever" Aluminum Roaster

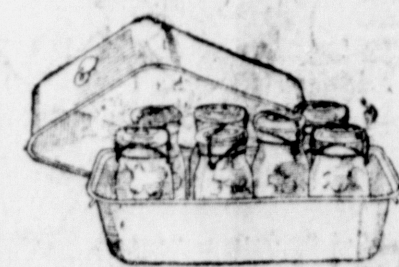

1. Steaming fruit in jars.
2. Baking on top of stove.
3. Baking bread, biscuits or apples.
4. Baking or steaming fish.
5. Steaming asparagus or corn.
6. Frying food.
7. A food warmer.
8. A bread box or cake box.

The Turkey may be evenly browned because the "Wear-Ever" Roaster heats quickly throughout. Not only does it save meat because it is self-heating, but it saves fuel because aluminum stores up so much heat that the Roaster may be used for baking on top of the stove over one burner—thus making it unnecessary to use the oven.

Fruit steamed in jars remains unbroken, is beautiful in appearance and of superior flavor. No utensil is more generally useful every day of the year.

WEAR-EVER The "Wear-Ever" Roaster is aluminum—cannot rust—cannot chip or scale—has no hinges to break—the corners are round—is easily kept clean. Let us show you why it pays to Evolution of Rings.

When mankind attained the art of working in metals copper rings were common, and as the art progressed and more precious metals were discovered more and more elaborate and costly rings were made. Soon settings were placed in the broader bands, or it was found interesting to make a hoop and fit into the two ends after cutting a revolving disk, inscribed with a design. The disk is now called the bezel and the circlet the hoop.

"The Paper Says"—

How naturally the phrase comes to the lips.

The newspaper says a thing and it becomes accepted as fact, for the newspaper is a most intimate part of every day life.

It holds its commission direct from the people themselves and grows great as it serves them.

That is what makes it such a wonderful advertising medium.

People look on the printed messages of business as part of the news of the day, a most helpful and interesting part.

The newspaper advertised article gains a prestige obtainable in no other way.

CHINA ASKED TO JOIN ALLIANCE

Allies Seek to Prevent Friction With Japan.

WOULD NOT JOIN IN WAR

Great Britain, France and Russia Try to Preserve Harmony in the East.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Great Britain, France and Russia have united in an effort to add China to the entente alliance in order to prevent possible friction in the future between Japan and China and to preserve the peace of the far east. If China agrees to the plan, military participation in the present war is not expected.

Negotiations thus far are in a conversational stage at Peking with no indications as to China's attitude. Although the United States is being kept informed its diplomatic representatives at Peking and European capitals are refraining from participation.

This sensational turn in far eastern affairs on the eve of the proposed change by China from a republic to a monarchy has been the subject of confidential exchanges between the allied powers during the last week but only became known here Friday. Japan, so far as is known, has not yet been consulted, the conversations thus far having been confined to the European entente allies and the Peking government. If Japan knows of the plans unofficially, there is nothing here to indicate what her position will be.

Although Great Britain, France and Russia joined Japan in representations to China to postpone the establishment of a monarchy because it was thought a change during the present disturbed condition of affairs might provoke revolution and international complications, this latest step by the allies is understood here not to have been motivated because of the monarchical situation alone.

It was considered essential by the allies that such arrangements be made in the far east as would permanently safeguard their interest. The impending change in China's form of government has rendered the situation somewhat acute.

Fear of revolution in China and the possibility of Japanese interference to preserve peace have been impressed upon the Japanese people to an extent that has attracted wide attention among the European diplomats.

By joining the entente alliance, none of China's operations could affect the course of the war in Europe, but the move would effectively guarantee Japanese abstinence from interference in China.

AFTER TEUTON'S U-BOATS

Allies' Warships Sink and Capture Three in Mediterranean.

Rome, Nov. 20.—Destruction by Franco-Italian torpedo boats of an Austrian submarine in the Mediterranean is reported here.

It is also reported that French warships have captured two German submarines, flying Austrian flags, off the African coast, one off Tunis, the other off Cyrenaica.

These incidents are believed to be the beginning of a vigorous campaign to clear the Mediterranean and Adriatic of enemy undersea craft. Italy and France are said to have combined in the formation of a flotilla of fast small vessels, which will patrol their own, the Austrian, Albanian, Greek and the African coasts until the U-boats have been exterminated.

BULGARS BUTCHER SERBS

Hundreds of Women and Children Burned Alive, Refugees Allege.

Paris, Nov. 20.—Atrocities by the Bulgars so horrible as to make the Balkan campaign of 1913 seem merciful are described by Serb refugees who are pouring into Salonika.

The invaders are butchering their Serb prisoners with the utmost refinement of torture, despatches from the Greek port assert. Hundreds of women and children were burned alive in the neighborhood of Nish in churches where they had taken refuge, thinking the houses of worship would be respected by the Bulgars. Instead the torch was applied. Those who rushed out were cut or shot down. The others perished in the flames.

Turks Sink a Monitor

Constantinople, Nov. 20.—An official statement issued at the Turkish war office says: "In the Caucasus on the Nakh front, we brought down and captured undamaged a second enemy aeroplane. On the Tigris river an enemy monitor was sunk with its crew. Arab volunteers destroyed enemy telegraph lines by a surprise attack on a hostile camp."

HEAVY LOSSES MARK FIGHTING IN RUSSIA

Both Sides Suffer Heavily on Eastern Front.

London, Nov. 20.—Unusually heavy losses by both the Russian and German forces on the east front are recorded in the official communications from Vienna and Petrograd.

Vienna reports that 2500 Russians have been buried already at Czartorysk, where the recent Russian successes are referred to as a "triumph," and adds that the fortified Russian positions captured on the western bank of the Stry indicated that the czar's troops intended to pass the winter there.

Petrograd reports that large numbers of German dead have been found in the trenches near Lake Swenon, west of Dvinsk, abandoned by the enemy. The statement also says that the Germans took the offensive on the Mitau road Tuesday night without success, and that the Austrians failed in a new offensive on the left bank of the Stry at the same time.

No change in the situation on the east front is reported in any of the official communications.

YEGGS GET $1100 IN STAMPS

Four Burglars Crack Safe in Aberdeen, Md., Postoffice.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 20.—After blowing the safe with dynamite and partly wrecking the postoffice building at Aberdeen, Md., four burglars escaped in an automobile with $1000, 2-cent and 3-cent stamps and about $10 in money, and drove toward Wilmington.

According to a report, the sheriff of Harford county saw the car and four men pass through Belair, the county seat, coming in this direction, but at that time nothing was known there of the robbery.

Postoffice Inspector Plummer issued a warning to the postmasters throughout Delaware to be on the lookout for these thieves, and also to keep a close watch on their office day and night.

CLARK CALLS ON MR. WILSON

Speaker Will Father Bill to Build Up Number of Officers.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Speaker Clark conferred with President Wilson on national defense.

He will introduce a bill in congress to double the appointments to West Point and Annapolis and provide that any qualified youth may attend either institution without appointment, at his own expense.

He will favor the reducing of enlistment in the army from four years to one, to have a large reserve.

Additional revenue, the speaker said before seeing the president, would probably be obtained by the extension of the special tax, the reduction of exemptions and an increase of the surtax in the income tax, the continuation of the sugar duty, or the sale of Panama bonds.

SCIENTISTS FIND PELLAGRA CURE

Tests on Convicts Result in Checking Spread of Malady.

IS DUE ENTIRELY TO DIET.

They Lived Without Meat For Five Months and Then Developed the Disease—Common in Some Southern States, but It is Now Hoped to Eradicate It.

The cause and a cure for pellagra have been discovered by the public health service. The spread of this malady, which has been increasing in the United States at a terrific rate during the past few years, may now be checked and eventually eradicated.

Assistant Secretary Newton, in charge of the public health service, regards the discovery as one of the most important achievements of medical science in recent years.

The final experiment of a long series of the public health service was carried out at a convict camp on the farm of the Mississippi State penitentiary, about eight miles east of Jackson, Miss., where the work has been in charge of Surgeon Joseph Goldberger and Assistant Surgeon G. A. Wheeler of the service. The experiment was to test the possibility of producing pellagra in healthy human white adult males by a restricted, one-sided, mainly carbohydrate cereal diet. Of eleven convicts who volunteered for this experiment six developed a typical dermatitis and mild nervous gastro-intestinal symptoms.

Produced the Disease.

Experts, including Dr. E. H. Galloway, the secretary of the Mississippi state board of health; Dr. Nolan Stewart, ex-superintendent of the Mississippi State Hospital for the Insane at Jackson; Dr. Marcus House, professor of dermatology, medical college of the University of Tennessee, Memphis, Tenn.; and Dr. Martin R. Engman, professor of dermatology in the Washington Medical school, St. Louis, declare that the disease which was produced was true pellagra.

Governor Brewer offered to pardon the convicts, who would receive proper care throughout the experiment. The diet given was long and thin, but there were no meats, milk, eggs, beans, peas or similar protein foods. This diet consisted of biscuits, fried mush, grits and brown gravy, sirup, corn bread, cabbage, sweet potatoes, rice, collards and coffee with sugar.

The convicts began the test on April 9. Although the occurrence of nervous symptoms and gastro-intestinal disturbances was noted early, it was not until Sept. 12, or about five months after the beginning of the restricted diet, that the skin symptoms so characteristic of pellagra began to develop. No case of pellagra developed in camp excepting among those men who were on the restricted diet.

On the basis of this discovery Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida have laid their propaganda before their respective boards of health for the eradication of the disease.

FIRST FAMILIES DYING OUT; RACE SUICIDE IS BLAMED.

Babies of Quaker and Puritan Stock Rare, Princeton Professor Says.

"The fine old families" of Philadelphia's Quaker stock and those founded by New England's pilgrims came in for criticism at the convention of the American Association for Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, on the ground that they were permitting themselves to die out.

"The greatest danger that faces this city and this country today is that good family stocks shall disappear. Good heredity lines are running out, due, in most instances, to voluntary causes which ought to be avoided. In Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere the old families are disappearing. Every normal man and woman ought to be taught that they live not only for themselves. Too often we read the headline 'The Last of the Family.'"

The saddest thing is to see the splendid old families of Boston, Philadelphia and other places, families that have borne presidents in their time, die out from willfulness."

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE VEGETABLE GARDEN.

ITALIAN TOMATOES.—Remove this slice from the stem end of six large hot-house or southern tomatoes, and scoop out most of the pulp; then cook two-thirds of a cupful of macaroni, broken in small pieces, in boiling salted water until soft. Drain off the water and add the tomato pulp, drained of extra juice, and one-half cupful of grated cheese. Season highly with paprika and add salt to taste. Fill the tomato cases with the mixture, sprinkle tops with breadcrumbs, add a nut of butter to each and bake half an hour.

Fried Sweet Peppers.—Fried sweet peppers make an attractive garnish to serve with mutton chops, lamb chops, pork chops, light or veal cutlet. Clean the peppers as usual, cut in three or four pieces and saute until tender and lightly browned, using butter or other fat enough to keep them from burning. If canned peppers are used drain carefully and allow them to stand until they have dried a little.

Stuffed Eggplant.—Wash and wipe a large eggplant and parboil it in boiling salted water for ten minutes. Let it get perfectly cold, cut in half lengthwise and scrape out the center, leaving the walls about three-quarters of an inch thick. Chop the pulp fine and add to it a small cupful of minced chicken, one-half cupful of minced ham, one-quarter cupful of bread crumbs, a tablespoonful of melted butter, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well, add enough stock to make a stiff paste and fill with this. Bake, basting frequently with soup stock, for one hour. Serve with thickened gravy poured on.

Broiled Eggplant.—Peel and cut an eggplant in slices about a quarter of an inch thick. Over each slice rub a little olive oil and dust salt and pepper. Arrange them on a wire broiler and broil for three minutes on each side over a hot fire.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Especially For This Newspaper by Pictorial Review

NEW COAT MODEL FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

Very stylish winter coat of African brown velvet cloth trimmed with brown velvet collar and cuffs, edged with narrow fur.

Chudach cloth, one of the materials to which we are indebted to American manufacturers as a result of the war, is used to fashion this very stylish coat for young girls. It closes at the side, and the open neck is finished with a flat collar of velvet edged with a narrow band of fur. This combination of trimmings is used also for the cuffs of the two-piece sleeves. The coat may be made with or without the two-piece belt, but for smart effect the velvet buttons can hardly be omitted.

In medium size the coat requires 17 1/2 yards 54-inch material. The back and collar, it will be noticed by the guide, are laid on a lengthwise fold of the goods when cutting out the coat. This means that these sections will be seamless, a fact which all home dress-makers appreciate. There are two belt sections, the pointed and straight, and these, with the cuff and upper sleeve section, are placed over a lengthwise thread of the material opposite the back. To the right of the collar the lower sleeve section is put into position and opposite this the front. If preferred the belt may be laid on a crosswise fold of the goods. By following these directions no difficulty will be had in cutting the coat, and the cutting is of utmost importance.

About 1 1/2 yards of fur and 1/2 yard 48-inch velvet will be needed for the collar and cuffs.

Chudach cloth is a lovely glossy material, made of pure vicuna wool, but it has the same silky sheen as kitten's ear, shawl's skin and similar cloths. In African brown it is unusually attractive.

Eason and Wealth.

I cannot call riches better than the baggage of virtue; the Roman word is better, "impedimenta"; for as the baggage is to the army, so is riches to virtue; it cannot be spared nor left behind, but it hindereth the march; yea, and the care of it sometimes loseth or disturbeth the victory; of great riches there is no real use, except it be in the distribution; the rest is but ostent.—Bacon.

Generally Find It There.

"Just what is meant by circumlocution?" asked the seeker after knowledge. "I haven't a definition on the tip of my tongue," replied the busy man, "but if you will look in the paper I dare say you will find a very good example of it under the general heading of 'Diplomatic Correspondence.'—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Increased Business--- With no Let Up In Sight

Everybody—whether directly affected or not—feels the throb of increased industrial activities over the entire East. Thousands of dollars are distributed weekly in wages—and like throwing a pebble in a pond radiates in circles until all people are reached. This awaking over the land of what were sleeping, and at best half time factories, has so increased the demand for all kinds of textiles that in many instances prices have greatly advanced—this applies specially to the raw materials of Cotton, Wool and Silk; increased wages, and greatly increased cost of Dye Stuffs, in some instances from three to five hundred per cent, has made nearly all goods in our lines higher with a great scarcity in primary markets every where.

We have in a great measure forestalled these advances by early purchasers, so that our stock is unusually large now, and at practically less price than same goods could be replaced. All this helps to account for the increased business we are pleased to say we are enjoying this Fall, and we further wish to say that while present stock lasts we will make no advances.

An Unusual Stock in Every Department.

Sammis, the Elevator Boy

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"I didn't stand in with the elevator boy," has been the wall of more than one tenant who has vacated his office for other than financial reasons.

"The elevator boy—the elevator boy! If you have ever been a tenant of a skyscraper, then it is needless to tell you that he is the real boss of the shebang. It is good to meet a newcomer who knows it to be a fact, because it saves time and trouble to both parties. I was pleased when old Mr. Beerchamp took a room on the eighth floor and hung out a sign of 'Commissions.' He didn't lose a day in coming to an understanding with me. As soon as I was off duty he called me up and patted me on the head and said to me in a fatherly way:

"Sammis, I have been a tenant in several skyscrapers during the last ten years, and I know something of the power and influence of the elevator boy. Let us come to an understanding right at the start."

"Yes, sir."

"You are fatherless, Sammis?"

"I am."

"And you are making heroic efforts to pay off a mortgage and support your mother?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then permit me to be a father to you. That is, come to me for advice. Come to me when you want a quarter. Come to me when you are sad and the tears are ready to start. It needn't be known all over the United States that we have adopted each other, but our affections will be just as deep and profitable to each other. You look out for your adopted father—your adopted father looks out for you. Here's a dollar for the mortgage."

"I thank you, sir," I said.

"And now as to your understanding, Sammis. There is a Mrs. Beerchamp. She is a good hearted woman, but old fashioned in her ideas. She is also inclined to be jealous. She does not know the exact position of my office, and it will be just as well if she does not find it out. Not that I would deceive the good woman in any particular, but her presence would interrupt business."

"Yes, sir. I know. When a man's wife is sitting around the office he can't fix his mind on stocks and bonds and real estate. I've seen 'em try it, and they always fail."

"Exactly, my adopted Sammis, and here's 50 cents more on the mortgage. You have the head of a man on a boy's shoulders. Mrs. Beerchamp may call here some day."

"I understand, sir. Leave it to me to discourage her."

I thought there were tears in my adopted father's eyes as he put his arm around me and said that he had unbounded confidence in me. Every thing went along as smooth as grease for a week, and then Mr. Beerchamp advertised for five typewriters. I don't know why he did it, as the kid in the office said business was very dull, but the elevator boy should not theorize when his adopted father's interests are at stake. He didn't put his name to the ad, but Mrs. Beerchamp dropped to it somehow and came down to see. There must have been at least fifteen good looking typewriters in Mr. Beerchamp's office when she struck the elevator at the first floor.

"Bub, I want to go up to the eighth floor," she said, as she shoved me aside and crowded into the elevator.

"What room do you want?"

"Never you mind the room. How many typewriters have answered that ad?"

"You mean the subscription book agent's ad, ma'am? I think I have taken up three cross-eyed girls this morning."

"She made a cuff at my ear, but I dodged and started the elevator. Between the seventh and eighth floors I tried to bring about a 'stick,' but she grabbed me by the hair and said:

"No tricks, bubby, or there'll be a spanking match here."

I landed her at the eighth and saw her kick Mr. Beerchamp's door open. I had scarcely got down to the first floor again when the typewriters began coming down the stairs. It was about an hour before Mr. and Mrs. Beerchamp came downstairs. As they got into the elevator she said to him:

"The idea of an old jay like you acting in this way is a shame and a disgrace, and I tell you it has got to come to a stop. I wish I could have got hold of all of them. Oh, I'm on to your little rackets, and after this I either come down and sit in your office all day or you don't have an office."

Mr. Beerchamp, poor old man, sort of slunk up into himself and hadn't a word to say in reply. He looked at me, however, and it was such a look of reproach and sorrow that I didn't sleep two hours that night. When he came down next morning Mrs. Beerchamp was with him, and I didn't get a chance till the afternoon to tell him that I had done my best to prevent the calamity.

"Yes, I believe you. You were loyal to your adopted father, but there are some things beyond us, Sammis—way beyond—and Mrs. Beerchamp is one of them."

Poor old Mr. Beerchamp! He is still with us, and so is his wife, but I can see that he is failing every day and cannot believe that he is long for this world. Some folks imagine that there is naught but hilarity around a skyscraper, but that there are also breaking hearts and shattered hopes you may take the word of Sammis.

Daily Thought.

Every day that is born into the world comes like a burst of music and rings itself all the day through; and thou shalt make of it a dance, a dirge or a life march, as thou wilt.—Carlyle.
